

The Battle for the Minds of our Children.

Every hour of every day our children are bombarded with media messages. They are influenced by their friends, entertainers, adults who fill the position of “role models”, authority figures and many others. Often the messages they receive leave them with the impression that there is no place in our lives for Christ as Lord.

Against this background the Christian school supports the family and the church in giving children tools to chart a course for a life of service to God now and into the future.

Christian School Teachers are Christians.

In the Christian school each teacher is a committed Christian always willing to share his or her faith with each pupil. Our teachers diligently guide the development of the total child - mind, body and soul. When teachers present perspectives on life, discuss values in the way they live, they present their faith as an encouragement to the students.

Christian Schools Support Values Taught in the Home.

Christian school parents care deeply about the spiritual development of their children. Since they entrust their children to a school for six or seven hours a day, every day, they want a school for their children that will reinforce the spiritual lessons that are taught in the home.

Christian Schools Reinforce Values Taught in the Church.

People who support Christian schools don't feel that other schools are bad but they do feel that Christian schools create the best possible environment for nurturing respect for the church of Jesus Christ. For them a God-centred learning environment is necessary since they believe it is God's world the child is learning about.

Parents Support Christian Schools because of the Directives in the Bible.

The Bible contains many passages which state clearly that parents are responsible for training their children. Deuteronomy 6:4-9, for example, specifically tells us about God, His love for us and our obedient response to Him. Parents are to teach these things ALL THE TIME, and parents who support Christian schools believe that this includes the time that children spend in the classroom.
